Staffing

This term I have undertaken an executive review process in addition to a nominated teacher transfer. The staffing mix for 2020 has been strategically crafted to drive clear improvements in the academic, social and emotional wellbeing of students.

The three Assistant Principals (Louise Filan-Davis, Alison Jackson and Julie Low) have a teaching load of (0.4) Thursday and Friday. On those days where they have been strategically funded to provide support (0.6), Monday – Wednesday, the clear expectation and accountability is to:

- Provide clear coaching, mentoring, & support to teachers to improve explicit teaching of literacy and numeracy

- Monitor and evaluate teaching programs and student work samples (fortnightly) to ensure consistency and compliance with syllabus expectations
- Monitor student data (Reading, Writing, Numeracy, Attendance and Wellbeing) across classes, working with teachers to drive improved outcome achievement
- Monitor interventions to ensure students are progressing in Reading, Writing and Numeracy
- Lead staff professional learning in the explicit and effective teaching of Reading/ Comprehension, Writing and Numeracy
- Assist teachers in evidencing their practice against Australian Professional Standards

Planning Days

The teachers of classes for 2020 will undertake a day of strategic planning, class formation and hand-over to ensure that the commencement of 2020 is a seamless process. On each stage planning day, teachers will be provided clear plans for how they will address quality curriculum delivery, wellbeing and reporting to parents, so that there is a shared and consistent approach.

Maintenance

Over the course of the next few weeks, the school has some scheduled maintenance that is being undertaken. We regret any inconvenience that this may cause.

Student Leadership

I would like to thank the P&C for working with me on the very challenging process of counting student votes for the 2020 Student Parliament. I wish to congratulate every person that stood for election and look forward to working alongside those new leaders soon to be announced.

Student Reports

Teachers are currently examining student work samples and student assessments over the period of this semester in preparation for the formalised report on each child's academic progress, effort and application.

Written reports will be sent home Friday 13 December 2019.
